

Term 1A) Year 9: Britain at the turn of the 20th Century

Learning objective: To understand chronology, sources and factors through the history of Britain at the turn of the 20th century.

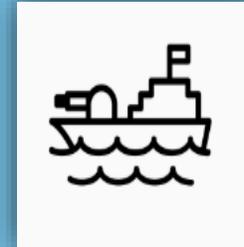

What do I need to know about life in Britain in the 'Golden Age'?

- At the turn of the 20th century, life was mixed for British people.
- Britain was at the forefront of technological development.
- It was also a time of immense poverty and hardship.

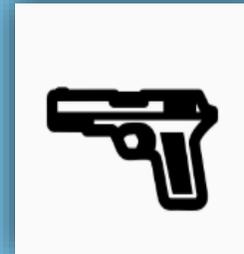

What do I need to know about the long term causes of World War I?

- A world war was inevitable for a variety of reasons.
- These can be categorised as M.A.I.N. = long term causes.
- Militarism, alliances, imperialism and nationalism were causes.

What do I need to know about the short term causes of World War I?

- In the summer of 1914, Archduke Franz Ferdinand was assassinated.
- This set off a chain reaction, where different countries joined in.
- Serbia called for Russia's aid. Austria-Hungary called for Germany.

KEYWORDS:

Chronology = events put in the order that they happened.
Sources = evidence from the past.

Interpretations = a persons opinion on a historical event.

Key events/people:

Militarism
Alliances
Imperialism
Nationalism
Franz Ferdinand
Austria-Hungary
Serbia
The Black Hand Gang

1911

Germany begins investing in large battleships (militarism)

1912

Serbia renews its partnership with Russia (alliance)

1914

The leader of Austria-Hungary – Franz Ferdinand – is murdered by a Serbian nationalist. Serbia is invaded. War begins.

What first-order concepts do I need to learn below?

Hint: remember! A first-order concept is a word historians use to describe facts related to events.

➤ Facts on life in Britain during the 'Golden Age':

- Life in England during the 'Golden Age' was varied. Some areas had benefitted greatly from the Industrial Revolution – with many gaining vast amounts of wealth.
- Other areas had experienced extreme poverty – particularly parts of London.
- Before the turn of the 20th century (1900), killers like Jack the Ripper roamed the streets of London, whilst incredible inventions like the Titanic were being created. It was a period of contrasts.

➤ Facts on the long-term causes of World War I:

- The turn of the 20th century was a tense time for many ordinary people and world leaders.
- War was on the horizon because of four main long-term factors: militarism, alliances, imperialism and nationalism.
- Militarism is when countries built up their armies, alliances are formal friendships between countries, imperialism is when countries try to expand their empires, and nationalism is a form of patriotism.

➤ Facts on the short-term causes of World War I:

- Because of the M.A.I.N. long term causes, the stage was set for a spark that would ignite a global war.
- The spark came in the form of an assassination in the corner of Europe, in Serbia. The Archduke (leader) of Austria-Hungary was travelling through the streets of Sarajevo when he was killed by a nationalist gang called the Black Hand. Their leader of the gang was called Gavrilo Princip.
- Austria-Hungary blamed Serbia for the assassination, and quickly invaded.
- Serbia was allies with Russia, pulling them into the war. Austria-Hungary was connected to Germany, bring them into the conflict too. France, Italy and Britain soon joined too. The War was about to begin.

What second-order concepts do I need to learn below?

Hint: remember! A 'second-order concept' is a phrase historians use to describe the history skills that are used in history – like putting events in chronological order, or analysing sources!

- Chronology is putting events and years in order. E.g. the assassination of Franz Ferdinand came before the First World War.

chaseterraceacademy

Look to the past:

Below is a primary source:
A newspaper cartoon from 1914 which details the alliance system that triggered a global war. How useful is this source to a historian trying to find out about the causes of World War I?

Term 1B) Year 9: World War I

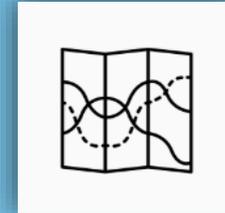

Learning objective: To understand chronology, sources and factors through the history of World War I.

chaseterraceacademy

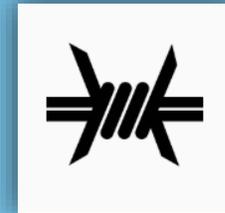

What do I need to know about the start of World War I?

- What the Schlieffen Plan was and how it impacted the Western Front.
- How propaganda was used by the British Empire to gain soldiers.
- How recruitment had to change as the War progressed.

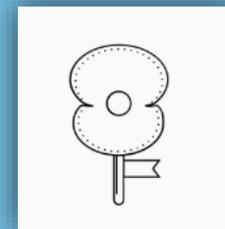

What do I need to know about trench warfare?

- What trench warfare was and what it was like for soldiers.
- What new weapons of war were created during the fighting.
- Who Haig was and why he is called the 'Butcher of the Somme'

What do I need to know about the experiences of World War I?

- What happened during the Christmas Day Truce.
- Who the Conscientious Objectors of the Great War were.
- How Remembrance Day is commemorated through the world.

KEYWORDS:

Chronology = events put in the order that they happened.
Sources = evidence from the past.

Interpretations = a persons opinion on a historical event.

Key events/people:

Schlieffen Plan
Propaganda
Trenches
Weapons
General Haig
Christmas Ceasefire
Conscientious objectors
Remembrance Day

1914

The Germans sweep through Belgium and are met by the British Expeditionary Force. Trench warfare begins.

1914

The Christmas Day truce temporarily stops the fighting on the Western Front for 6 hours.

1916

The Battle of the Somme

What first-order concepts do I need to learn below?

Hint: remember! A first-order concept is a word historians use to describe facts related to events.

➤ Facts on the start of World War I:

- World War I began in 1914. Germany made one of the first moves – sweeping through Belgium and provoking the British into landing in Europe.
- This sweeping attack was called the Schlieffen Plan, and was successful until the British Expeditionary Force met the Germans and dug deep defensive positions.
- Each side attempted to out-flank the other, resulting in a line of trenches through France, Belgium and up to the English Channel. The stalemate war was now in full-swing.

➤ Facts on the Western Front and trench warfare:

- Life in the trenches was difficult for soldiers on all sides. British trenches were particularly vulnerable to the extreme cold, rain and mud. Rats infested the living quarters and many suffered shellshock.
- The advent of new weapons made warfare particularly challenging. New creations like mustard gas were a constant terror to soldiers – as were flamethrowers, barbed wire, artillery and machine guns.
- In 1916 a bloody new battle was about to unfold: the Battle of the Somme. The British General Haig made many mistakes which cost lives of hundreds of thousands, earning him the name ‘the Butcher.’

➤ Facts on the experiences of World War I:

- Many falsely predicted that the ‘Great War’ would be over quickly – some said Christmas 1914.
- On Christmas 1914, a temporary truce occurred between British and German forces, in which soldiers played football, drank and sang together in ‘no-man’s-land’ – the area between trenches.
- Many at home decided to refuse to fight. These were called conscientious objectors and pacifists.
- The War seemed to be lasting much longer than people originally thought – it was a war of attrition.

What second-order concepts do I need to learn below?

Hint: remember! A ‘second-order concept’ is a phrase historians use to describe the history skills that are used in history – like putting events in chronological order, or analysing sources!

- Interpretations are historical opinions on an event. For example, some may believe that General Haig deserves to be called the ‘butcher of the Somme;’ others may not. These are different interpretations.

chaseterraceacademy

Look to the past:

Below is a primary source: a photograph of two German young soldiers with their mule wearing gas masks. What does this source tell a historian who is trying to find out more about conditions during World War I on the Western Front?

